Representative Fisher was also excused from announcing his vote on the motion.

This controversy at an end, Representative Stewart moved for the appointment of a committee of three to draff resolutions of respect to the memory of the Urb volunteers shall in the battle of Marifa. Waterworks Employees.

Chicago, Feb. 8.—Three men, ice-bound several miles out in Lake Michigan today, saw the failure of a strenuous effort to send them relief by bobsleds pulled by hand across fields of ice with the temperature 12 below zero. Assistant City Engineer Paul Brown headed the relief expedition, which took supplies to Captain Kelly and three assistants at city water supply in-take known as the Sixty-eighth street erfb. Brown and his two companions, Captain Smith of the Donaham tag line and Captain Donovau, chief city diver, boarded an Illinois Central express train with about 50e pounds of provisions. They left the train at Sixty, eighth street, loaded their supplies on a bobsled and started across the ice fields for the crib. The strong westerly wind made the trip, exceedingly dangerous, both from the does of ice and the risk of freezing. Frown and his associates each took turns at the ropes, while the others pushed the provision-laden sled, and after an exciting experience, owing to gaps and floating ice, the daring mission was temporarily abandoned.
